Description of the incident, including the suspected cause of death, injury or egregious abuse or neglect:

On August 2, 2013 the agency received a report regarding a six-week-old infant admitted to the hospital with a skull fracture. The mother stated the injury was the result of the infant scooting himself between the mattress and the headboard of an adult bed. The mother stated she caught the child before he fell off the bed, but instead hit his head on the headboard. Medical professionals stated the infant's injury was inconsistent with the mother's explanation of the incident. The infant was transferred to a larger hospital for evaluation and treatment of his injuries.

Findings by agency, including maltreatment determination and material circumstances leading to incident:

The agency collaborated with law enforcement and medical personnel to complete the assessment. The Initial Assessment completed by the county agency has insufficient evidence to substantiate the maltreatment of physical abuse by the mother. The infant and his five-year-old half-sister were placed in the home of a relative during the assessment period. The mother's explanation of the incident remained consistent throughout the assessment. Medical personnel had differing opinions regarding an infant's ability to scoot and were unable to conclusively state the injury was non-accidental. At the conclusion of the assessment, the infant and his half-sister were determined unsafe; however, returned to the home with an in-home safety plan and in-home safety services in place. The agency filed a Child in Need of Protection or Services petition and the case remains open for ongoing case management services and monitoring of the in-home safety plan.
